John Brinsmead Piano Serial Numbers

I see from your posting history that this is an attempt at humor From your post quoted here: ***** >And her piano had iron foot and switches made from elephant bone.. ) While it may not be tuned to the standards of a piano tuner (I am quite sure it is not), at least there are no more terribly 'sour' keys and it has already given me many hours of pleasure.. About this time the tape check action was becoming general, and he had lathes fitted up to make his own actions.. Thank you once again as this is the kind of information I am looking for While I am certainly interested in it's value, that is not my primary concern as I have no intention of parting with it.. (With the piano or the names of the parts:-) Louis M Slater 23/6/2001, 12:13 u.. com STEVEN G LEWIS 23/6/2001, 13:40 u I should have spoken a little more to your post.. JOHN BRINSMEAD, the founder of the firm of pianoforte manufacturers, Messrs John Brinsmead and Sons, London, died on Monday night at his residence in Albert-road, Regent's-park, London, in his 94th year.. This and other improvements brought in such an increase in business that Mr Brinsmead was able to fit up labour-saving machines in his factory in Chenies-street, Tottenham-court-road, and to do there his own fret-cutting work.. Producer kit torrent download Next he improved the top or plank bridge, with the result that he obtained the clear, bell-like treble which hitherto had been wanting.

The 'iron' part of the title no doubt refers to the fact that it has an iron plate, which was somewhat unique in 1864.. Often those pianos originally had candlestick holders on each side of the music rack.. Sorry for the lack of proper terminology, although I am a musician and can play a little bit of piano, I do not know the names of the parts:-) Any help is appreciated.. news prodigy com STEVEN G LEWIS 23/6/2001, 18:42 u '3C273' wrote: >Hello, >Someone gave me a piano last week for the price of hauling it away and I am >looking for any information you can provide.. Brinsmead's rescue with a stock of seasoned timber and he was able to make a fresh start in another factory.. It was owned by a 96 year old lady who I believe owned it most of her life and it appears to have been well cared for.. I borrowed the tools from a friend and was able to get it in tune with itself (A is about 1 1/2 steps below 440.. The candle holders are still there and apart from small piece of missing scrollwork the whole piano is in great shape..
